Investment Objective

Finsbury Growth & Income Trust PLC invests in the shares of UK listed companies with the objective of achieving capital and income growth and providing a total return in excess of that of the FTSE All-Share Index.

Investment Policy

The Company invests only in the shares of UK listed companies. Where possible, a minimum position size of 1% of the Company's gross assets is held unless the holding concerned is being built or disposed of.

The portfolio is managed by Lindsell Train Limited and comprises approximately thirty stocks. Unless driven by market movements, FTSE 100 companies, including preference shares issued by such companies, represent between 50% and 100% of the portfolio; at least 70% of the portfolio is invested in companies within the FTSE 350. The Company does not and will not invest more than 15% of its gross assets in other listed investment companies (including listed investment trusts).

Benchmark

Performance is measured against the FTSE All-Share Index (total return).

First Interim Dividend

A first interim dividend of 4.4p per share (2008: 4.4p) was paid on 6 May 2009 to shareholders registered at the close of business on 3 April 2009. The associated ex-dividend date was 1 April 2009.

Capital Structure

At 31 March 2009 the Company had 50,254,173 shares of 25p each in issue excluding 2,543,250 shares repurchased by the Company and held as treasury shares (31 March 2008: 52,674,423 (treasury shares: 123,000)). Since the end of the half-year a further 40,000 shares have been repurchased and are being held in treasury. Also, a total of 410,000 shares have been reissued out of treasury. As at 26 May 2009, the Company had 50,624,173 shares in issue (excluding 2,173,250 shares held in treasury).

Gearing

As at 31 March 2009 the Company had a revolving credit facility of £15 million provided by ING Bank N.V.. As at this date a total of £13 million had been drawn down.

CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT (Companies held in the portfolio are shown in bold type)

Performance

The period under review has again been an extremely challenging one for stock markets. I am disappointed to have to report that your Company has not been immune from the general weakness in stock markets and in the six months to 31 March 2009 your Company's net asset value per share declined by 12.1%, on a total return basis. The Company's share price total return was a similar decline of 12.2% with the Company's benchmark, the FTSE All-Share Index, measured on a total return basis, falling by 18.3% during the same period.

At the period end the share price discount to net asset value per share stood at 5.9%, slightly narrower than the discount as at 30 September 2008 of 6.3%.

Share Capital

The Company has continued to be active in buying back shares for treasury where they were offered at a discount greater than 5% to the net asset value per share. A total of 746,500 shares were repurchased for treasury during the half-year in accordance with the Company's stated policy; 50,000 of these were then reissued to new shareholders in November 2008 at a price representing a narrower discount to net asset value per share than that at which they had been bought into treasury. Following the half-year end a further 40,000 shares have been repurchased to be held as treasury shares and a total of 410,000 shares have been reissued out of treasury. As at the date of this report, a total of 2,173,250 shares are held in treasury.

Return and Dividend

The Income Statement shows a total loss per share of 26.66p consisting of a revenue return per share of 2.99p and a capital loss per share of 29.65p. Income was well down on the comparative period last year, almost entirely as a result of the banking stocks in the portfolio. Further details are given in the Investment Manager's Review beginning on page 5.

Your Board has declared an unchanged first interim dividend of 4.4p per share which was paid on 6 May 2009 to shareholders on the register at the close of business on 3 April 2009. The associated ex-dividend date was 1 April 2009.

Following the payment of the first interim dividend of £2,211,000 on 6 May 2009, the Company has £1,657,000 of retained distributable revenue reserves which is equivalent to approximately 3.3p per share.

Borrowings

Your Company has a fixed term committed revolving credit facility of £15m which is subject to a variable rate. As at 31 March 2009 a total of £13m was drawn down under this facility.

VAT

As shareholders will be aware from my previous statements, VAT is no longer charged on investment management fees following the ruling by the European Court of Justice in October 2007. Negotiations with the Company's previous and current Investment Managers are continuing with respect to reclaiming VAT previously paid. I am pleased to report that it has been agreed that the sum of £31,000 will be refunded to the Company in respect of VAT paid to Lindsell Train Limited during the three-month period ended 30 September 2007. Progress remains slow with respect to VAT expected to be recoverable from Close Investments Limited, the Company's previous Investment Manager, however, we expect to have recovered the remaining VAT from Close Investments Limited by 30 September 2009. Recoverable amounts will be reflected in the accounts in proportion to the original basis of allocation of expenses between income and capital applicable to each year in respect of which a recovery is made.

Outlook

2008, which included the bankruptcy of a major American investment bank and the effective nationalisation of some UK banks and large US financial institutions, was the second worst year for the UK equity market since the 1920's. The global nature of the down-turn and the negative impact of the credit crunch on companies' access to capital and cash-flow are expected to continue well into 2010 and consequently stock market conditions will continue to be difficult and volatile in the short term. However, your Board remains supportive of our Investment Manager's strategy of investing in durable cash generative franchises which are held for the long term and continues to believe that this strategy will deliver superior investment returns to shareholders.

The outlook for dividends generally remains uncertain and while so far this year only one portfolio holding, Lloyds, has cut its dividend, your Board and our Investment Manager continue to monitor this situation closely.

It is encouraging that since 31 March 2009 markets have shown a strong recovery and since the period end the Company has issued 410,000 shares out of treasury.

Further information concerning the portfolio can be found in our Investment Manager's report beginning on page 5.

INVESTMENT MANAGER'S REVIEW (Companies held in the portfolio are shown in bold type)

At the end of our half year, which is also the end of the first quarter of 2009, we find we have three more or less urgent observations about the portfolio. These relate to three issues that we, as Investment Manager, have been most exercised about. By extension, we judge they are the issues that you as shareholders (as we are as well) ought to care most about too.

Lloyds Banking Group

Your Company retains a material exposure to Lloyds, with 2.2% of the Company's net asset value in the ordinary and a further 3.7% in two preference shares. In recent trying circumstances this exposure merits detailed analysis.

We are mortified by the (unrealised) loss of value suffered by shareholders in these instruments. However, there are signs that the worst is past.

Lloyds' ordinary shares were trading at 70.7p at the period end. This is an important price because it is above 38.4p. What we mean by this is that Lloyds' stock is nearly double the already announced price at which its shareholders will be offered new ordinary shares, arising from the government's conversion of its own preference shares in the bank. With such a premium it seems highly likely that shareholders will take up their entitlement to this further £4bn of equity. If so, Lloyds will be confirmed with a Tier 1 ratio of 14% – getting on for bomb-proof, surely – and, critically, the government's stake in the bank will be unchanged, at 43%, still short of full control. This escape from de facto nationalisation would likely improve the rating, we think.

Our belief is that one day Lloyds will be rated at 2.0x book value. In fact for many "pre-HBOS" years, Lloyds traded at closer to 3.0x book. The current fully diluted net asset value per share, adjusted for the government's asset protection scheme, is over £1. Pre-provision profits at Lloyds are c£1.3bn a year, compared to period end market capitalisation of £11.6bn. If the bank survives then, which we acknowledge is still not certain, but more so after the quarter's developments, its book value will grow quickly and its stock is likely still very cheap.

Meanwhile, after the period end both our Lloyds Bank preference shares went "ex-dividend". They offer a net dividend yield of nearly 20% and are an important source of income for the Company. It seems that the bank intends to service its preferred obligations through this difficult time. If it succeeds these shares are also cheap.

Dividends

As the 2009 results season unfolds we find that, to date, only one portfolio constituent has cut its dividend – Lloyds, whose final has been replaced by a measly scrip issue. There is no escaping the fact that the loss of the bulk of the Lloyds' ordinary dividend is a blow to the Company's revenue account. We must hope that growth across the portfolio can take up the slack. And indeed another 83.4% of the Company's net asset value has reported dividends in calendar 2009 with, of these, 8.5% maintaining and 74.9% increasing distributions. Highlights were the double digit hikes from Fidessa, Reed, Shell and Unilever.

We know there are no grounds for complacency and that dividends remain at risk if the economy worsens. Reviewing the portfolio we recognise the dividend from Marston's, in particular, cannot be described as "safe", given that company's indebtedness. Nonetheless, at our recent meeting with its chairman we were left in no doubt of the company's commitment to its payout, which costs £35m pa, a relatively small sum, compared, say, to

EBITDA (earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation) of £205m. Moreover, its business has demonstrated resilience into the recession, offering good value nights-out to Middle Britain.

There are forecasts predicting UK dividends will fall 30% in 2009/10. We hope they are wrong. But so far, we find the Company's experience to be encouraging. This is, of course, as it should be, given Lindsell Train's stated investment approach, focused on cash generative and – we try to ensure – stable businesses. Consider that over 43.7% of the Company's net asset value is invested in just four branded goods companies – A.G. Barr, Cadbury, Diageo and Unilever. Whatever you think about the short term prospects for price performance from this quartet, their dividends look reassuringly secure.

Growth Companies – Technology and Media

Nearly 31% of the Company's net asset value is made up of "Business-to-Business" media and software companies – including Euromoney, Fidessa, Pearson, Reed, Sage and Thomson Reuters. For what it's worth this represents something like a 10x "overweight" to these two sectors. This is a very distinctive commitment relative to other investors. It is also, in our opinion, full of value and opportunity.

Non-cyclical, steady growth is an exceptionally attractive and rare corporate characteristic today. Any company that can deliver it is likely to be materially undervalued. We expect such growth to be found amongst companies exposed to the two most powerful industry trends of this generation – namely the Emerging Markets and the Internet. So, just as we believe that Cadbury, for instance, is given little credit for the fact that 37% of its sales derive from Developing Economies and are growing rapidly, we also think investors have not given sufficient consideration to the beneficial impact of the Internet on professional publishers.

The proof of this proposition, in our eyes, and the only one that really counts, is that their shares are outperforming. Fidessa, Pearson, Sage and Thomson Reuters are actually up so far in 2009 – because their businesses are growing in a way that offers sanctuary from the broad economic cycle. After an 8 year bear market these shares are still cheap and unloved.

INTERIM MANAGEMENT REPORT

Principal Risks and Uncertainties

A review of the half year, including reference to the risks and uncertainties that existed during the period, and the outlook for the Company can be found in the Chairman's Statement beginning on page 3 and in the Investment Manager's Review beginning on page 5. The principal risks faced by the Company fall into nine broad categories: market price risk; interest rate risk; portfolio performance; operational and regulatory; credit risk; liquidity; shareholder profile; investment management key person risk; availability of bank finance. Information on each of these areas, with the exception of the availability of bank finance, is given in the Business Review within the Annual Report and Accounts for the year ended 30 September 2008. The risk associated with the availability of bank finance is that the provider may no longer be prepared to lend to the Company. Copies of the monthly loan covenant compliance certificates, provided for the lender, are circulated to the Board and both the Board and the Investment Manager are kept fully informed of any likelihood of the withdrawal of the loan facility so that repayment can be effected in an orderly fashion if necessary.

In the view of the Board these principal risks and uncertainties are applicable to the remaining six months of the financial year as they were to the six months under review.

Related Parties Transactions

During the first six months of the current financial year no material transactions with related parties have taken place which have affected the financial position or the performance of the Company during the period.
